WE NOMINATE

George Reginald Bishop Jr., 29-year old citizen-soldier, who has been largely responsible for the development of Princeton's newest military command—a major portion of the 307th Field Artillery Battalion—that will make its first public appearance next Wednesday morning in the community's annual Memorial Day Parade. In joining forces with Company "L" and local service units in paying tribute to our war dead, the "307th F.A.", already recognized as one of New Jersey's most promising reserve organizations, will symbolize for many Princetonians this nation's gradual adoption of a desperately needed national-defense psychology.

Some 16 months ago the 307th, part of the 78th (Lightning) Division, was a "paper battalion," manned by a handful of reservists and handicapped by a dearth of training facilities. Officers of the division approached the University's Department of Military Science and the result was the suggestion that one of the battalion's batteries be recruited here with Bishop, a reserve captain, acting as battery commander. Six weeks later, after Bishop had devoted some 30-40 hours a week to the assignment, one battery had been formed and an additional firing battery and part of battalion headquarters were in the making.

As far as can be determined, Bishop and his associates had pulled off a "military first," currently described in a nationally circulated publication as "The Princeton Experiment." The idea was to build a training program around the facilities and equipment available in a ROTC center and then to capitalize upon the manpower potential of a university town in creating a cadre-type battalion consisting of specialists, who would constitute the nucleus of a war-strength unit.

Bishop, whose professional interests lie in the field of modern languages, completed his studies at the University early in the war, earned his Field Artillery commission and accumulated a brace of decorations, three battle stars and a superior efficiency-rating in E.T.O. before returning to civilian ways in 1946. In recent months, while holding forth as operations officer of the 307th, he has served as a part-time instructor in two university departments, has concentrated on his doctoral thesis and has proved invaluable in teaching in the Upper Sunday School of Trinity Episcopal Church.

For making a significant contribution to the Department of Defense's long-range training program; for carrying forward the "civilian tradition" on which the armed strength and enduring greatness of democracy are based; for helping effect a harmonious working relationship between civilian and regular components of the Armed Forces; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for Random Notes. George Durner, Jr., Princeton's paraplegic veteran, landed a 64-pound sailfish off Miami, Florida, this week. Measuring over seven feet in length, the catch ranks as one of the biggest in the current fishing derby that Miami is running.

W. Fred Crandall has been nominated to serve as president of the Business Association for the 12-month period beginning in June, succeeding Mrs. Thorn Lord. Other nominees: Orren J. Turner, Jr., first vice-president; Ralph Hulit, second vice-president; Miss Aliee Braveman, secretary; Miss Barbara Grahn, treasurer; Mrs. Lord, Isaac Vogel, Miss Kay Owles and William F. Gale, trustees.

Princetonians traveling shoreward this Spring and Summer will find traffic conditions improved with the opening of the new drawbridge over the Manasquan River between Point Pleasant and Brielle. It is being dedicated this Friday afternoon.

Two Princeton stores are to undergo a change soon: one is planning extensive remodeling, the other is being sold. Announcements are expected next month.

Friends of Edmund S. DeLong, Princeton's Director of Public Relations, are delighted with the fact that on Tuesday, DeLong, a three-year old "maiden" at the Garden State Track, ran in the fourth race and won. Those who played a hunch bet on her are even more delighted — she paid $16.40 for $2.

The June issue of McCall's features Mrs. Gardner Patterson (wife of the Director of the International Finance Section in the Department of Economics) as "The Best Cook in Our Town." Mrs. Patterson, who lives with her husband and five-month old daughter at 84 College Road, is shown—with recipe included—making cheese blintzes.

For news another Princeton housewife, this one in the cast of a motion picture coming to the Garden Theatre, see page eight.

If you want to buy equipment ranging from Kiddy Koops and splash-pools to steel garage doors and porch shades; need a good part-time bookkeeper; want an apartment or house to rent; would like a job at the shore for the month of June; found a typewriter near the finish line of the crew race at Lake Carnegie; or like auctions, read the classified advertisements on page 15. There, too, is another parody of MacArthur's self-inscribed epitaph.

ly that the Supreme Court's 6-3 decision taking the teeth out of "fair trade" pricing would have its effect on the Princeton shopping scene. What the nation's highest tribunal had done this week was to invalidate agreements between manufacturers and retailers which have forbidden the latter to sell many articles below a certain price. Under this arrangement, any retailer handling the same merchandise, whether or not he specifically agreed to the price, could not sell for less.

In a town like Princeton, immediate price-cutting was not expected to be an overnight reaction. Merchants in all affected fields were planning to watch for straws in the wind before acting themselves, but in the long run, the cost of numerous kinds of goods were likely to move downward.

It was as much the current national situation as anything else: buyer resistance was temporarily high, so were inventories. Sales were numerous, particularly in communities where the approach of Summer would mean a business slow-down. The normal reaction might well be to take advantage of the new policy (effective in 45 states) by stimulating new customer interest through a further drop in prices.

Survey Continues. Air raid wardens are increasing their campaign to have every Princetonian over 16 fill out a questionnaire identifying him and listing his availability as a volunteer for the Defense Council. Many additional houses are expected to be canvassed this week. The information sought can be of much value to the entire community, and will be so, whether a major disaster strikes in the form of all-out war or whether a smaller scale emergency of domestic origin hits the town. In any event, as Col. Francis J. Darke, Defense Council chairman pointed out this week, once the emergency develops, it will be too late to gather the needed facts.

Town Topics has reprinted on this page a list of the sector and zone wardens for all of Princeton, with the suggestion that it be clipped for reference. It's New to Us

(ABOUT THIS AND THAT)

It always gives us a lift to be able to say that something is unreservedly good. So it's with great pleasure that we announce that someone whose work we have long admired has finally decided to capitalize on her know-how again—much, we might add, to the benefit of any woman who wants to make a fine art of dressing. Her name is Miss Irene, and you'll find her now (by appointment, if you please) at 15½ Chambers Street, where before it was with the Custom Salon at Bonwit-Teller in New York.

To our mind, everything Irene puts her hand to has the fine flavor of the good dressmaking houses... designer deftness that stems from the famed fashion schools of Vienna and the top design rooms of London. Clothes to her mind are all fit and fabric with the finest of finishing. Simplicity is her signature.

Her skill lies in the soft—not the strictly man-tailored suit, the good little dress, the separate jacket and skirt that this year might be the basis of a whole wardrobe—next year, with a knowing touch, accessory to another look. Everything, yes, done to measure from a pattern, a sketch, even a picture in your mind's eye.

The fabrics she prefers: soft tweeds, flannel, linen, shantung, pure silk. The clientele—anyone whose clothes' philosophy embraces the good line... perfect fit and quality... a few fine things rather than a closeful of compromises.

For an appointment to discuss wardrobe plans, call Irene at 224-W. So that you will know: to make a dress is $25; a two-piece costume, $30; a suit $35; a skirt $10; a separate jacket, $25.

Last week saw the early beachcombers off to a fine start with bathing addenda, pro and con, to take beachward even before the frost was off the wave so to speak. This week, we're going to continue the story for not-so-hardy sea and sun worshippers who are willing to wait the official opening of the season on Memorial Day.

The French Shop specializes in swim suits by Catilina. And it was here, really, that we had one of the most pleasant surprises of the week, shop-hound wise. For with the quality and the designer names that the shop attracts, we expected nothing less than high fashion and high prices but are happy to report that though the high fashion is very much in evidence, the high prices aren't—the whole collection that we saw starting from a very wee (for this season) price of $7.95.

A white cotton suit has an elasticized bodice, a full sweep of skirt and a petal neckline with more of the same petals for pockets. This is $9.95, with a contour bra built in for sleek fit.

Another suit, called "Butterfly," is all the name implies with large butterfly wings printed, South Sea island fashion, on a puckery navy blue fabric. This suit is bare with a maillot line and neatly, we think, elasticized sternwise to give less pull when you bend or stoop. This is $8.95.

Another suit, nicknamed "Corky," has nautical ropes and anchors for its decor—all on a white ground. Sounds whimsical—but is —Continued on Page 11

Death by Chance. In the space of three short months, two well-known Princeton football players met tragic deaths in train wrecks. Last February, John F. James '33, a fine fullback and for many years a leading official, was killed in the disaster at Woodbridge. A commuter, Mr. James did not always take the 5:07 which ran off the trestle that day.

Last Friday, George B. Stoess '37 of Quaker Road was killed when one Pennsylvania express telescoped the rear car of another sleeper near Bryn Mawr, Pa. Mr. Stoess, an outstanding tackle on the unbeaten 1933 team, had plane reservations home from Cleveland, was forced by bad weather to cancel them at the last minute and go by train instead.

Parade Plans. Arrangements are complete for the annual Memorial Day parade, sponsored by Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, and the address to be made by Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Jr., a member of Princeton's Class of 1933.

As it has in the past, the line of march will begin (at 10:30) at Princeton Avenue and proceed up Nassau Street via the St. Paul's and Princeton Cemeteries to the Battle Monument. There Mayor P. MacKay Sturges will introduce Secretary Pace. Also on hand will be Col. Franklin D'Olier, first national commander of the American Legion; Maj. Gen. Julius O. Adler, a trustee of the University as is Col. D'Olier; and Brig. Gen. J. B. Fraser, Commanding 108th AAA Brigade, Fort Dix.

Music will be provided by the Ninth Division Post Band from Fort Dix and the Princeton High School Band, while other participating units will be Charles W. Robinson Post No. 218, American Legion; the Red Cross Chapter; the 207th F. A. Battalion; Company "L," New Jersey National Guard; auxiliary police; boy and girl scouts, the Lions and Princeton Garden Clubs.

Hunt on Wheels. A motorized treasure hunt, open to all, has been scheduled for Thursday evening, May 31, by the Young Adult Fellowship of the Princeton Methodist Church. The first clue will be distributed at 7 o'clock at the main gate of Palmer Stadium, with others leading successively to the treasure, to be located in a nearby picnic spot where refreshments will be served to all participants.

Prizes will be given to occupants of the first car to complete the hunt, as well as to the first children reaching the finish. Tickets will be 75 cents a person, $2.50 for an entire family, with proceeds benefiting the church renovation fund. The rain date is Friday, June 8.

TALBOTT FESTIVAL

Choir College Celebration. A number of events of unusual interest, marking the 25th anniversary of the Westminster Choir College, are scheduled for next week as the institution's annual Talbott Festival. A registration fee of $2, payable at the college Monday, will bring a card good for admission to all events.

Monday afternoon at 4, Benjamin Britten's "St. Nicolas" will be performed in the college chapel. Singers and instrumentalists from the college will be augmented by members of the Columbus Boychoir School. That evening at 8:30 in Westminster Playhouse, the dramatic department will present "Thunder Rock," a three-act drama by Robert Ardrey which has been produced in both New York and London.

Verdi's "Requiem" will be sung Tuesday afternoon at 2 in the chapel, with a concert scheduled for 8:30 in McCarter Theatre. The Westminster Choir and the Columbus Boychoir will be heard on both occasions.

A "Festival of Massed Choirs" will be staged in Palmer Stadium Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Several hundred singers from choirs in Eastern states will participate, as will the Princeton High School band. A robed procession of those in the festival and congregational hymn-singing will be part of the program. No admission cards are needed but a free-will offering will be taken.

The widely-known soprano, Dorothy Maynor, will be the guest artist with the Westminster Orchestra at a concert Wednesday night at 8:30 in McCarter. Miss Maynor, who has just completed a tour of Europe, is a graduate of the Choir College.

THE PLAYHOUSE

"I'd Climb the Highest Mountain" (Thurs.-Sat.) is a far cry from the sophisticated "Goodbye, My Fancy," which it has replaced at The Playhouse. A simply, sincerely-told story of a minister and his young bride who go into the Georgia hill country in 1910, the film's biggest problem is its sharp contrast to more quickly-paced productions.

William Lundigan and Susan Hayward are good as the pastor and his wife who battle ignorance and illness to bring the Gospel to this rural community.

Go for Broke (Sun.-Tues.) is a tribute to the fine contribution of the Nisei (Japanese-Americans) who played a sizeable part in helping achieve victory in the Italian sector of the last war. Van Johnson is cast as a Texas lieutenant in charge of platoon of the 442d regimental combat team. Acting and action are both good. The title, incidentally, has no reference to gambling, merely means "an all-out effort."

On the Riviera (Wed.-Sat.), hailed in some parts as the best musical in a couple of years, stars the able comic Danny Kaye in a variety of roles, ranging from a fashionable Frenchman to a Spanish dancer and a touring American in the famed European vacationland. Corinne Calvet is only one of a number of beauties to be seen, with all forms of photography considerably enhanced by the Technicolor. Humor and music are consistently appealing.

Artillery Battalion (see page one of this issue) now has Lt. Col. Sterling Anders as its commander, while other Princetonians among its officers are Maj. Joseph W. Miller, Jr., Executive S-1; Capt. George R. Bishop, Gunnery Officer S-3; Capt. Frank T. Gorman, Jr., Battery Commander, Battery B; 1st Lt. Donald R. Bryant, Jr., Battery Executive, Battery B; 1st Lt. Robert R. Porter, Battery Executive, Battery C; 2nd Lt. Stewart H. Brown, Battery Officer, Battery C; 2nd Lt. John B. Hughes, Battery Executive, Service Battery; and 2nd Lt. Harold C. Hempling, Battery Officer, Battery B.

A truck-drawn 105 Howitzer unit, the battalion is part of the 78th (Lightning) Division. It numbers 94 enlisted men from Princeton and vicinity, with a few vacancies still existing in this cadre unit. Advantages of membership in such a "skeleton type" battalion include advancement through the enlisted grades, military training and resultant service to the nation, plus paid drills. Information on joining the battalion may be obtained from any of its officers.

Toward Better Health. A campaign has been started here to organize a local health district in Mercer County, to consist of two or more of its municipalities, as a result of the bill written along such lines and signed this month by Governor Driscoll. Greater economy, increased efficiency and improved health measures are listed by those who support the plan as its primary benefits.

Theodore D. Vreeland has been named chairman of the committee to organize such a district, with Mayor Paul M. Van Wegen of Pennington already interested in presentation of the plan to his governing body as the result of a meeting held here last week to discuss the project. Mrs. Doris C. Skeels and Mrs. Harold O. Gulliksen are serving with Mr. Vreeland.

Others present at the session, at which preliminary plans to obtain a referendum on the question were outlined, included Mrs. John V. A. Fine, Mrs. Benton Schrader and Mrs. Jackson Martindell of the League of Women Voters. The League has made creation of the district a major part of its program for the coming year.

Also in attendance were Councilman J. Dayton Voorhees, David T. Blake, health officer for the borough and West Windsor Township; Mrs. Kenneth H. Condit, Planned Parenthood Clinic; Mrs. Geoffrey Sage, Red Cross; Mrs. David F. Bowers, Social Service Bureau; and Miss Eva Darlington, Tuberculosis —Continued on Page 14

The New Jersey Poll

APPEASEMENT IS SCORNE;
STRONGER ACTION URGED TO END THE WAR IN KOREA

How can we bring the war in Korea to an end?

New Jersey people certainly don't profess themselves to be diplomats or military strategists, but it's with some of their money and some of their sons that the present Korean War is being fought and paid for. And top military and diplomatic leaders in Washington can well afford to take time out to see what the average New Jersey voter thinks on this all-important matter.

To find out what steps New Jersey people would take to end the Korean War, New Jersey Poll reporters recently asked the following question of an accurate cross-section of the state's voters: "What do you think we should do to bring the war in Korea to an end?"

Results of the survey show two things clearly and unmistakably: 1. The great mass of New Jersey voters want no part of appeasement or pulling our troops out of Korea at the present time. Less than one in ten in the state (9%) favor such a course of action.

2. A substantial majority—nearly two out of every three in the state (64%)—favors going on with the Korean War, either by continuing the present U. N. policy or by taking even stronger measures than we have up to this time.

Significantly, the greatest single group in the state (41%)—more than two in every five—favors taking even stronger measures than the ones presently being pursued in Korea. A smaller group (23%)—nearly one in every four—want the present U. N. policy continued.

In other words, those who favor stronger measures for pursuing the Korean War outnumber by more than 5 to 3 those who favor carrying on with the present U. N. policy.

How New Jersey residents would end the Korean War:

Pursue stronger measures than present ones 41%
Follow present United Nations' policy 23%
Pull out—bring our troops home 9%
No opinion 27%

Among the most frequently mentioned suggestions by those advocating stronger measures are: (1) Go all out; (2) Bomb Chinese bases; (3) Use the Atom Bomb on the Chinese; and (4) Open up a second front on the China mainland with the nationalist troops on Formosa.

Those who favor carrying on with the present U. N. policy in Korea mention chiefly: (1) Peace without appeasement; (2) Continue with the present policy; and (3) Hold at the 38th Parallel.

IF YOU HAVE a special mailing piece (calendar, folders, catalogs, color-work, etc.) you can have them sent to as many as 5,000 addressees. You may also select specific areas and communities. The cost is a fraction of a cent per piece when run off on an electric addressing machine. For details, call TOWN TOPICS, 2336.

NEWS OF THE THEATRES

THE GARDEN

Tomahawk (Fri.-Sat.) seeks to peek color and action into the story of a Sioux Indian uprising in the 1860's. There's plenty of color and picturesque photography but the action is frequently confused and pointless. Van Heflin, Yvonne De Carlo and Preston Foster, plus plenty of killings, little else.

Take Me Out to the Ball Game (Mon.-Tues.), a reissue of two summers ago, stars Esther Williams, Gene Kelly and Frank Sinatra in a meandering musical with the national pastime as the background. Tuneful and pleasant if a bit lacking in verve.

Quebec (Wed.-Thurs.), purporting to be a historical drama set in the old Canadian city when the British were battling the French, takes numerous liberties with fact. Added to frequent inaccuracies is a weak plot that never finds the story making noticeable progress. Little save photography is noteworthy. John Barrymore, Jr. and Corinne Calvert head the cast.

The Great Missouri Raid (Fri. Sat.) is of interest to Princetonians primarily because its cast includes a resident of the community: Mrs. C. Mason Harvey of 134 Alexander Street, whose husband is a senior at Princeton Theological Seminary. As Lois Chartrand, she was signed to a seven-year contract by Paramount but left her career for marriage and her husband's plans to become a minister. They became engaged after meeting while she was enrolled in a speech class at Occidental College (between her work in pictures) and he was the instructor.

The picture itself, as the name virtually implies, has a Jesse James theme and is set in the eye-filling country-side where that 19th century desperado lived. It's a good western, with Wendell Corey, Ward Bond and Ellen Drew in the cast.

SPORTS IN SHORT

Ready for Omaha. To the faithful who have seen this Spring Field this season, it is a foregone conclusion that next week will bring Princeton's baseball team to the N.C.A.A. committee in charge of selecting the team to represent district two at Omaha, Neb., next April. The Tigers have been so successful in the past that they will offer the games played this Saturday. But Princetonians are convinced that the invitation is coming this way, and they are glad to see that the Princeton in the coming game this Saturday.

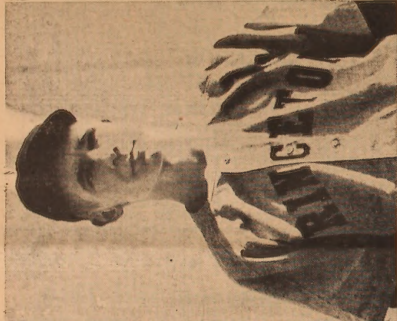

They base their conclusions on what they have seen this Spring season. In the first game, the great 16-and-3 mark (which is translated to 15-and-2 against teams in the same district, an area that has been the best in the country) was set by Princeton in the coming game this Saturday.

The round-robin against seven other leading college teams in the district was held at Omaha from March 13 to 15. The Tigers stood up under pressure, how they will hit, are question marks, but it's a sure bet that they will go in as the college pitching staff in the nation.

In all-around ability could not have been better demonstrated than it was in the space of five days that Princeton's baseball team won three games with an 8-0 shutout of Colgate. He scattered six singles, fanned 12, and allowed only two runs. Next day, Dave Slier took one strong Lafayette line that has been pounding the ball all season and set the Leopards down with three hits. The Tigers' pitching staff, led by that, thrown by Chivurgal, save for an unearned run that followed Jim Fairchild's miff of a pop fly in left, Princeton's pitching staff broke up the conduct in the seventh to give Dave a 2-1 verdict and make his own record 3-0 for the season.

Although Sion Hall's schedule had not included many tonight opponents, the Pirates were 13-1 in the district would have set up a strong claim for the invitation had they topped Emerson Dickinson's nine on Saturday. The game was played between Princeton and the two colleges.

INFILDER WHOSE SLUGGING HAS AIDED TIGER NINE

Larry Becker, Princeton second baseman, who last week hit .375 in three games, drove in four runs and scored four others. Against Seton Hall, he hit a triple in the second inning and broke up the game in the eighth with a long double.

Princeton's in the speedy event!; the Harvard jayvies, front-runners all the way; and Yale's schmidt-coached shell, which caught the lead in the final mile to win by two thirds of a length.

Princeton was second in the freshman race and third in the other two. The national regatta at Marquette, Mich., on June 30 will conclude the season.

Handicap Overcome. From the Charles River at Cambridge, where the Princeton jayvies, front-runners all the way, and Yale's schmidt-coached shell, which caught the lead in the final mile to win by two thirds of a length.

man's nine on Saturday. The game was the first ever played between the two colleges.

Chirurgi added seven innings to his runless string before he encountered trouble in the eighth. By that time, the Tigers had a 3-0 lead as the result of some poor control on the part of Clary Eilertsen, visiting pitcher, a costly overthrow of second by his catcher and timely hitting by Larry Becker.

But in the top of the eighth, big Don Beitter followed two clean singles with a 375-foot blast into the stands in right center and it was a brand new ball game. Chirurgi was replaced by Harry Brightman, who retired the side in prompt fashion.

Then the Nassau nine broke loose, lacing out five hits, picking up two walks and a hit batsman as 11 men went to the plate. When the visitors cracked badly, chipping in with a ed the finish line a tenth of a second ahead of the Elis. Their margin was a scant foot and a half; the loss cost the Blue a chance to win the Rowe Cup, for its freshmen had previously been eliminated.

Princeton's varsity had no trouble defeating M.I.T. and Penn, with Boston University a distant fourth in the morning heat. That gave the Tigers the widest representation in the finals, but the power and coordination needed to win was best displayed by a great Navy piebald boat (whose time in the freshman race was five seconds better than far from that with one of the best cuts we've seen on the current crop. An adjustable-bra top flows into a sort of peg-top skirt with slanting pockets and a neatly clipped look about four inches above the knees.

This has a sort of border print that's all red anchors for a nautical finish and more of the elasticized sections that Catalina loves. It's $7.95 for the record. A nylon elasticized maillot type, called "Dragon-Fly," is outstanding for its own shirred beach skirt and is $9.95.

Bailey's, 14 Witherspoon Street, has the terry coveralls everyone's been looking for. Brief little boy shorts and a sort of scoop neck blouse make neat dry-offs and come with a sort of jockey cap for laughs. The shorts are $2.95, the blouse and cap $1.98 each.

Allen's, 134 Nassau Street, has loads of dressmaker and tank type suits for your sprouts from $1.98, plus one of the gayest beach duo's we've seen—a terry polo shirt printed with a patriotic looking red, white and blue sailboat and matching flag colored pique swimming pants. Nice for a pair of little boys at a mere $3.98.

For little girls, there's a pink sugar cane stripe terry-cloth poncho that would spice up even a pair of training pants. One ninety-eight and $2.98 takes these, depending on the size.

There was a time when bamboo and its off-shoots seemed to be entirely relegated to chow mein and the chairs that British colonials rested in on empire piazzas around the world. But no more. In the last few seasons, bamboo has come out of its far Eastern muskiness to become the darling of everyone in the decorating field, from furniture designers to lampshade manufacturers. And that's a fine thing—even with the boiling up in Asia—for while it's available there is nothing so cool and clean looking in muggy hot weather, especially when it's used, as it was originally intended, as room-dividers or screening.

Bootherstone Interiors, 10 Chambers Street, handles bamboo in this fashion in a new series of flexible screens and window coverings that would do justice to a "South Pacific" set. The screens are highly mobile—built on the same principle as the bamboo blinds that have been around for some time, and then lacquered any number of porcelain-clear colors to make a fine focus for greenery or what have you.

The window treatments are an entirely different sort of thing. Frankly a bamboo matting... fine as any fabric, these come in regular curtain lengths with all the draping qualities of a draw curtain. They, too, come lacquered to resist dirt, and although they're not inexpensive, would make to our mind the perfect year-round treatment for a glass house.

All are custom-made in your choice of natural or color underglaze. The draw-curtains are 95 cents a square foot; cornices to match, $2.50 a foot. The screens, $17.95.

IT'S NEW TO US

to see the new collection of British Run-arounds.

Such verve! Any one of the low-slung roadsters in that shop would bring out the racing instincts in a hippo if one could fit in the low-level bodies. There's a fire-engine red M.G. racer roadster there that would make even this road lizard want to go 60 (with apologies to the Gendarmier!). And the Riley convertible coupe reminds us of the old beau we had who drove a Dusenbergh. Ah, shades of our youth! If it weren't for three chips and a cocker we'd trade-in in a minute.

For more conservative gentry—there are Austin and Morris sedans from $1,450—a midget price in this market and much more so when you remember that one gallon of gasoline lasts and lasts up to 36 miles. So start there—blame the whole thing on economy and then see that M.G.!

We're living in a scientific age, but often the marvels of same seem either so highly intellectual or so terrifyingly destructive as to whittle mere mortals to the size of Lilliputs. But not the robot lawn mower. Any man, scientific or otherwise, can appreciate the marvels of a power-driven mower that, like a movie monster, works sans human help.

The one we just saw, called the "Snapper" Turf, not only cuts lawns but tall grass and weeds, mulches and pulverizes old leaves and grass, as well as mowing automatically. The mower operates automatically by the use of a holding stake with an unwinding cord anchored by the stake in the center of a stretch of lawn.

The cord is attached to the mower and as it unwinds—presto! the lawn is mowed in widening circles. Another unique feature (how anti-climactic can you get?) is a reverse gear which enables anyone using the mower to cut to within a half inch of a wall, tree, shrub or sidewalk without the tugging and pulling that goes on to get the average mower back into position for another swath. The Princeton Metal Works, Mount Lucas Road, has this and we're sure that if you give them a ring at 108 they'll be more than glad to let you see the mechanical genius at work on your own yard.

YOU CAN LEAVE your classified ad for TOWN TOPICS at Hinkson's, 74 Nassau Street. Deadline, Tuesday afternoon.

Short Notes: The varsity tennis team thumped Yale, 7-2, and Dartmouth, 8-1, last weekend to wrap up its second Eastern Intercollegiate title in a row. The Tigers finished the season with a 12-0 mark and have now won 24 in a row since 1949. It's a great credit to Coach John Conroy, who figures, incidentally, that in Gil Bogley and Chuck DeVoe, he has the number one doubles combination among college teams in the country.

Dick Swinnerton's freshmen also finished an unbeaten season last Saturday, topping the Yale cubs. —Continued on Page 13

5½ to 1½, before rain intervened. Durk's yearling aggregation took nine in a row and have lost but one match in the past four years.

Another string was kept intact when John Bliss saw his freshman lacrosse team while Army's plebe outfit, 12-3. Under his guidance, freshman teams in the sport have now won 25 straight.

The varsity, however, had unexpected trouble, losing to Army, 15-12, for its first defeat in 15 games. The season's record thus became 9-1, a great achievement but short of the hoped-for unbeaten year.

Since Army lost to Johns Hopkins (which Princeton beat), there is still hope that the national championship will be awarded to the Tigers. In any event, they are assured of a tie.

Harry Kinnell's golf team also finished the year with an outstanding record. After placing second in a field of 16 in the Eastern Intercollegiate, it won the 11-team championship sponsored by the Metropolitan Golf Association. Bill Bagland was the medalist on each occasion.

A combination of rain and injuries has made the going tough for Princeton's town baseball team. The Tigers' outcasts dropped two games in the Twin-M League and could not play Sunday in the latter-County circuit. In the latter tourney, the schedule calls for them to entertain Titusville on the high school field Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and travel to Hopewell for a game on Decoration Day.

Pennington and Belle Mead both let back Jack Petrone's nine in Twin-M games, poor work in the field being largely responsible for the defeats. In addition, Petrone, Bill Hogarty, Carl Pope and Bob Kehoe have all been out of action because of injuries or schedule conflicts. Hogarty is a student at Hun, Pope and Kehoe are in Lawrenceville.

Highstown will be on hand this Thursday night. Pennington is on the schedule away Monday and Belle Mead will be back for a return contest next Thursday evening. Home games are played on Brookav Field at 6:15.

Princeton High School's fine track team finished its dual meet season unbeaten, smothering Bound Brook and Somerville by respective scores of 85 to 32 and 80 2/3 to 36 1/3. The victories, achieved largely with reserves on Irwin Weiss' squad, gave the Blue and White a string of 29 straight over four seasons.

The team will defend its Central Jersey Group III title at Asbury Park this weekend, and is figured to retain the honors it won a year ago. On June 2, the State championships are scheduled at New Brunswick. The Little Tigers will be among three or four teams favored to win the Group III crown.

COMPACT-DESIGN by Austin

Austin "compact-design" makes sense as thousands of delighted owners of the DEVON will tell you. Every inch of space is used inside the car where it's needed for passenger comfort and convenience—there's no waste overhang. The result: as easy to handle as a model child—swings into parking space the "supers" have to pass up. And its running costs make a penny-pincher happy!

League. Information on the forthcoming campaign may be obtained from Mr. Vreeland at 163 Nassau Street.

Giroux to Shelton. Active in the sale of Chrysler Corporation automobiles in Princeton for the past 17 years, Paul Giroux has become associated with the Shelton Motor Co., the DeSoto-Plymouth dealers at 300 Witherspoon Street headed by Frank A. Shelton.

A resident of Princeton since 1914, Mr. Giroux is a graduate of the sales training and engineering course provided by the Plymouth Motor Corporation and has also attended the Chrysler Corporation Business Management Conference. He served in the Navy during World War II.

Widely-known in the community, he is an officer in the Lions Club and a director of Princeton Council No. 636, Knights of Columbus. The March of Dimes campaign which he directed last Winter topped all previous records for this area.

Miscellany. The Auxiliary Unit of Post 76, American Legion, will conduct its annual "Poppy Day" Saturday. The flowers to be sold have been made by disabled veterans and members of the unit hope for a generous response from the community as a token of appreciation for the services rendered. Mrs. Marjorie L. Wright is chairman of the Poppy Day Committee.

The Rev. Charles W. Marker and Delmar Lipp were inducted into membership at Tuesday's Rotary Club luncheon. . . . Irving Van Zandt, Jr., has been named president of the Community Players. . . a dinner in New York and two theatre tickets offered by the Players through ticket sales were won by Mrs. Robert V. Dilley of Province Line Road.

Princeton Group Arts will stage its annual outdoor exhibit next Friday and Saturday, June 1 and 2, in Palmer Square. Mrs. Richard Kuehnemund is chairman of the committee in charge.

All artists (painters, ceramists, jewelry craftsmen) are invited to enter their work in the exhibition. All entries will be for sale at reasonable prices; full details for partaking in the display may be obtained at Group Arts headquarters, 14 Spring Street (tel. 2052.)

The art exhibition by Elsa Frankl at 32 Wiggins Street will be continued through next Tuesday. Hours are 4-6 and 8-9.

Miss Anna Toto will crown the statue of the Blessed Mother in a traditional ceremony to be held Sunday night at 8 in St. Paul's Church. Others who will take part are James Cunningham, Richard Miller, Joseph Petty, the Misses Lydia Pinelli, Maureen McCarthy, Josephine Freda, Joanne Carnevale, Millicent Trant, Mary Mazzella, Katherine Boyd and Ann Cahill.

Seven young people will be confirmed at the Sunday morning service of the Lutheran Church in the Westminster Choir College Chapel. They are Leila Bach, Robert and Richard Bergesen, John and James Panek, William Schwarz and William Staib.
